TASMANIA

Director Opportunity – disability services

Li-Ve Tasmania provides genuine person-centred support to people living with disability. The organisation's portfolio of services includes 19 supported independent living homes across Tasmania, community access programs, and services supporting those living with dementia and acquired brain injury. Li-Ve Tasmania is also developing ground-breaking research, education and resources in end-of-life care for people with life-limiting illness and disability in Tasmania. With offices in Hobart and Launceston, Li-Ve employees 430 staff across the state and with a strong values-based growth trajectory.

Empowering people living with disability to live their best possible lives has been at the heart of the Li-Ve Tasmania brand for more than 65 years.

Li-Ve Tasmania is seeking expressions of interest from people interested in joining the Board. We are seeking people who have an understanding of the role and responsibilities of a Director, knowledge and experience of contemporary governance and a willingness to positively contribute to Li-Ve Tasmania's future and the people we support. This role is a voluntary, non-executive director position. Culture and values alignment are critical.

To complement the Board's existing skills, people with capability and experience in commercial and financial strategy, business development, senior project management and Government relations, would be highly valued.

While not essential, experience in the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) will be looked upon favourably.

Membership of or Graduate from the Australian Institute of Company Directors is desirable.
